

CASEY NOLAN

casey.nolan@example.com | (312) 555-0157 | Chicago, IL

Experience

|                                                                                                                                                                                      |                     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Software Engineer II, Payments PlatformWingtip Financial   Chicago, IL                                                                                                           | Aug 2024 - Present  |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Owned the payment settlement rails handling 4M transactions daily</li><li>Cut p99 latency 35 percent via a request-batching redesign</li></ul> |                     |
| Software Engineer I, Ledger IngestWingtip Financial   Chicago, IL                                                                                                                | Jul 2022 - Aug 2024 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Migrated the ledger to an event-sourced write path</li><li>Reduced ingest lag from 3 minutes to under 10 seconds</li></ul>                     |                     |
| Software Engineering InternTailspin Consulting   Chicago, IL                                                                                                                     | Jun 2019 - Aug 2019 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Prototyped a Redis-backed feature-flag service</li></ul>                                                                                       |                     |

Education

|                                            |             |
|--------------------------------------------|-------------|
| B.S. Computer Science, Ridgmont University | 2015 - 2019 |
|--------------------------------------------|-------------|